KID GLOVES.

During the holiday season there will no doubt be thousands of pairs of gloves given as gifts. Many of the givers, only knowing that a glove is a glove, don't know kid from smasher or lamb—therefore it's safer and best to give some reliable brand that the wearer will appreciate.

"REYNIER"

is a top notcher—is sold by us only in this city. It's a glove that has imitators, but no superiors, as every lady who has worn them will testify. Made in 3-clasp style—"glace and suede"—in white, black and all the colors, with Paris point stitching.

"MAJESTIC."

Just what its name implies—it's a trifle heavier glove than Reynier, and especially adapted for street wear at this season. Majestics are made by the old maker of the one time famous "Monarch," and have all the good characteristics of that glove, with new and improved ideas.

"MAGGIONI FRANCESCO."

This is a real kid glove at a popular price. It has a history, and there's no dark spots on it, for the glove is guaranteed in fit and quality, and any lady who knows the original Centimeter glove knows this glove has its individuality—black and all colors.

FOR A DOLLAR.

That's the popular glove, of course. They are good gloves. They are not the best gloves made, but there are gloves selling at $1.25 and $1.50 that are no better. Three lines—P. and L., Corona, and "Foster" hooks—any or all of them will be acceptable gifts.

MOCHA AND ENGLISH WALKING GLOVES.

These are those mannish gloves now so much worn on the street by well dressed ladies. Mochas come in several shades, while the walking gloves come in tan only.

A PITTSBURGH SITE

Suggested for Bethany College by

WHEELING IS ALSO PROPOSED.

The Agitation for Transfer of the Historic School Originates in Pittsburgh—Sentiment Not Strong for the Removal—Many Complications in the Way of Making the Transfer—Rev. Oliphant Talks.

A story is in circulation to the effect that there is a movement on foot to remove Bethany college to Pittsburgh, and that several of the trustees of the college were favorable to a site near Schenley Park. Additional local interest was added by the statement that the West Virginia resident trustees believed the college should come to Wheeling if any change was made. The Pittsburgh Post has this to say of the matter:

"When Public Works Director Bigelow buys land for an addition to Carnegie Institute he may also buy a college site. The trustees of Bethany college are considering the proposition of placing such a scheme in his hands. Yes, 'dear old Bethany' may be brought here from the 'banks of the Buffalo.' The sentimentalists of the alumni are opposed to removing the school from its traditional surroundings. Those trustees who are ambitious that the college should take a high place among educational institutions are behind this movement. They have selected a site near the entrance to Schenley park as the ideal spot.

"Congressman W. H. Graham, of the Northside, Thomas C. Phillips, of Lawrence county, and George T. Oliver, George H. Anderson, W. R. Errett and Rev. T. E. Crambley, of the East End Christian church, are the principals behind this up-to-date idea. They are urging it with the other trustees, for those residing in West Virginia think Wheeling should be selected as the next abode. The superior educational facilities offered by the close proximity to Carnegie Institute are urged against the Wheeling agitation. Rev. Mr. Crambley says the West Virginians will come to understand and appreciate that feature.

"Mr. Graham said yesterday that the only question now seriously in the way of a change was whether or not the present buildings could be disposed of at a price that would admit of purchasing a valuable piece of Pittsburgh realty. He mildly suggested that were Andrew Carnegie or the city to offer a site the trustees would lose no time in making up their minds as to what was the best course the college could pursue."

An Intelligencer man yesterday interviewed Rev. C. M. Oliphant, pastor of the First Christian church, and an alumnus of Bethany. Rev. Mr. Oliphant said he hadn't heard anything regarding the proposed removal, and he was opposed to it unless Wheeling was selected in preference to Pittsburgh, although he admitted that the strength of the disciples, or Christian denomination about Pittsburgh, would tend to the college's growth and prosperity.

"One thing is certain," said Rev. Mr. Oliphant, "and that is, the Pittsburgh people would have to produce several thousand dollars in cash or provide satisfactory grounds and buildings. The college buildings at Bethany cost between $150,000 and $200,000 and while they wouldn't bring that amount now, it would take almost that amount to replace them. Another complication that arises is the endowments to the present institution. There are several wills calling for bequests to Bethany and the donors might be averse to a change. Viewed in a cold, practical light, the college might take higher rank if it was removed to Pittsburgh, or to Wheeling. It is handicapped by being away from railroad connections, but the idea at the time of its founding, nearly sixty years ago, was to have colleges removed from the temptations of cities. Bethany college is located amid beautiful surroundings. It has associations most dear to the old students, and the change from the Brooke county hills would be opposed strictly on sentimental principles."

Bethany college is situated in the village of Bethany, about sixteen miles from Wheeling. It was founded by Bishop Alexander Campbell, founder of the Disciples or Christian church, and his bones lie on a hillside within the shadow of the college pile. Its removal to Wheeling would find less opposition, but Pittsburgh would have the better of it in offered advantages. As to an ideal site, the Wheeling creek valley affords all that could be desired, and Mont de Chantal academy is evidence of this fact.

Mr. A. L. White is the only trustee from Wheeling, he succeeding the late Hon. A. W. Campbell. Other West Virginia trustees include Judge John A. Campbell and Senator O. S. Marshall, of New Cumberland, John C. Palmer and J. E. Curtis, of Wellsburg. There are trustees in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Philadelphia and various parts of the country.

IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES

At the Funeral of the Late Mrs. J. T. McClure—Several Clergymen in Attendance—Rev. J. H. Littell's Touching Address.

A very impressive funeral was that conducted yesterday afternoon, over the remains of Mrs. J. T. McClure, wife of Rev. Dr. McClure, the venerable pastor of the First United Presbyterian church. The services took place at the family residence on Chapline street, adjoining the church with which the deceased had been so long associated. The attendance of sorrowing friends and relatives was large. The interment, which was at Greenwood cemetery, was private.

There were several clergymen assisting in the exercises. There was no music. Rev. J. H. Littell, co-pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, made the principal address. Rev. Dr. Cunningham, of the First Presbyterian church, made the opening prayer, and Dr. Balph, of St. Clairsville, read appropriate scriptural passages. Rev. W. C. Waddle, D. D., of Unity, Ohio, spoke briefly in tributes to the deceased lady, and benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. L. Sooy, D. D., of the Fourth Street M. E. church.

Rev. Mr. Littell made a touching and beautiful address. His text was the twenty-ninth chapter of Proverbs and he said in part: "She lived in godly simplicity, like a flow of a deep and noiseless river, whose sources are in the living mountain springs. She drew from the fountain head of life, the grace and strength which she shed forth on the world around her."

"To her family she was an affectionate mother. To her husband a true and loving wife. None knew her better than they. Her children rise up to call her blessed. Her husband also praised her. She endeared herself to her friends and the church."

"Here was a golden autumn. Just as nature embroders its shroud on the borders of the tomb, so her life took its loveliest hues when the autumn years brought her nearest to the winter of the grave. She is not dead, but sleepeth. Death brings no loss to the believer. This is a remarkable consolation to the godly, that death brings no loss to their salvation. They who have been asleep in Jesus are not perished, but are sharers with Him of immortality."

"They live. They shall be fashioned in forms of fadeless beauty and glory. They shall live, body and soul, forever. They shall, by God's spirit, be made to revive and bloom at the last day when death is swallowed up of victory! Just as the faded grass revives, and withered flowers re-bloom in the morning dew after the hot winds have passed over them. Be comforted then, for she sleepeth in peace."

The pall-bearers were all relatives, as follows: Major W. J. W. Cowden, Dr. John H. McClure, Walter H. McClure, James McClure, Robert McClure, and Mr. Wall, of Pittsburgh.

THE CHURCH FEDERATION

To Meet This Afternoon to Discuss Anti-Slot Machine Crusade.

A meeting of the recently organized Federation of Churches will be held at the Y. M. C. A. to-day at 2 p. m. The organization will be made permanent, officers elected and work planned in line with the Christian Citizenship meetings. At this meeting will be decided the question of extending the canvass of the anti-slot machine petition, now being circulated by the ministers.

If the federation is satisfied with the number secured the petition will be presented this week to the mayor and chief of police, at a conference to be arranged for, but if a more thorough canvass of the city is determined on it is indefinite when the petition will be presented. Dr. Sooy stated last night that he had covered nearly all his territory and while some of the reports

RECEIVED WITH SURPRISE

Was the Exclusive Intelligencer Publication of the Sale of the Moundsville & Benwood Electric Line to the Wheeling Railway.

The exclusive Intelligencer publication yesterday, giving the first news of the sale of the controlling stock in the Moundsville, Benwood & Wheeling Railway Company to a syndicate of Wheeling men who are directors in the Wheeling Railway Company, was received with surprise throughout the city yesterday morning, but, as this paper had predicted, it did not receive an official denial, though the gentlemen interested decline to give out the particulars of the transaction. The deal was consummated several days ago, but at the suggestion of the purchasers it was kept quiet, and the Intelligencer publication came like a thunder-clap. It is generally expected that the Wheeling and Moundsville lines will be connected soon and a through service established between Wheeling and Moundsville.

W. & L. E. Equipment.

A statement was published broadcast to the effect that the Wheeling & Lake Erie had given orders for a great deal of new equipment from the American Car and Foundry Company. The officials of the road said that the statement was not altogether correct. There has been a movement of that sort on foot for some time, but the equipment has not been absolutely ordered. It is expected, however, that very soon some extensive orders will be placed for new box cars, and for new freight engines and other equipment of which the road is in need now, owing to the immense increase in the business.
